Question: 1

Beginning at 10:57 on the night of July 23rd, the 911 service received several phone calls reporting a large fight at a night club downtown. Four squad cars with eight officers responded immediately and found about a dozen adult males engaged in a melee. Within five minutes of arriving on the scene, they had the situation under control, and they began interviewing the combatants and witnesses. One of the combatants, Jose Mendez, told Officer Ronald Jones that the fight had begun when another man had assaulted his (Mendez's) date by tossing his drink in her face, and he had responded by punching the man. Officer Shantel Williams interviewed the man Mendez accused of starting the fight, Roland Hemphill, who denied tossing his drink on anyone, and said that he had tripped and accidentally spilled his drink on a woman, whose date then punched him. At this point, according to Hemphill and other witnesses, friends of both parties jumped in to defend their friends. Officer Mark Jones interviewed Tyreese Smith, the bartender, who said that he hadn't seen how it started as he had his back turned toward the crowd at the moment the fight erupted. Several other witnesses, who spoke to Officers Mike Smith and Wendell Brown, backed up Hemphill's account that the drink was spilled accidentally. There were no witnesses who claimed he tossed the drink deliberately. After interviewing nearly everyone on the scene, officers arrested Jose Mendez for battery.

One of the individuals was in possession of suspected illegal narcotics and provided officers with false personal identifying information. She was eventually identified as Asia Campos and she was arrested on an outstanding warrant. While at the same location the three officers discovered another motor vehicle that had been reported stolen from Pensacola parked in the garage.
